

Come learn, share, and interact

Discover more about bleeding disorders through these programs designed just for you

Disease State: The Science Behind Your Bleeding Disorder

Come learn, share, and interact with people who “get it” because they are living it too. These presentations are custom-designed to help you understand the science behind bleeding disorders or overcome challenges you might face. Presented by a Takeda speaker who will provide the group with practical advice and helpful tips.

Hello: Life After High School

Choices and Risks: With independence comes the power of choice. But you need to make sure your choices are smart and safe. Making informed choices will help keep you healthy and happy as you transition to adulthood and beyond
